

Tora Bay Sauvignon Blanc 2017

Martin Bonifant is a 4th generation New Zealander, born on the South Island. The Bonifant family was traditionally a farming family who to this day own land from the original settlement of New Zealand in 1860. Martin has lifetime experience in land and property investment and global financial markets. His investment and hands-on involvement in vineyards and production of wine have contributed to the success of the Tora Bay brand.

Tora Bay Sauvignon Blanc is produced from a single vineyard site of 33 hectares purchased in Martinborough in 2000. It is a special site lying beautifully to the all day sun and is slightly elevated.

Tony Prichard, a senior and experienced winemaker, makes Tora Bay Sauvignon Blanc to be fruit driven, tightly concentrated with notes of passion fruit and tropical fruit.

Equally aromatic and delicious, this brims with honeysuckle, passionfruit and nectarine flavors that are generous juicy, ripe and delicious. Shows focus and good acidity on a light body. Lively acidity emerges and carries the palate to a sustained finish featuring fresh herb and gooseberry flavours. This is a properly dry and concentrated gooseberryish Sauvignon Blanc with grainy palate textures. It will be a good food wine to match with seafood, poultry and vegetables over the next 2-3 years
